

So you want to play 1V1V1V1?
Here's how it works:

The above is the 1V1V1V1 Board.

You see the Slot with a Squirrel on it? That's where your side deck goes

You see the slot to the Left of it that's where your main deck goes.

You see the Horizontal slot above it that's where your dead cards go the heart next to it is where your health is and the cog is where the mox pillar is [It's Stated]

The 2 Lanes on the left attack the player to the left

The 2 lanes in the middle attack the player across from you

The 2 Lanes to the right attack the player to the right.

The skull slot is where your resources are located.

The circle in the dead center is where the Bowl for things like bones is located.

Some sigil clarifications:

Sigils like Bifurcated strike will attack the player in the corresponding lane, but to the left and right of the space normally attacked

Sigils like Sniper may only attack your opposing lanes, not all opposing lanes.