

So you want to play 1V1V1V1V1V1?
Here's how it works:

The above is the 1V1V1V1V1V1 Board.

You see the Slot with a Squirrel on it? That's where your side deck goes

You see the slot to the Left of it that's where your main deck goes.

The Lanes on the left attack the player to the left

The lanes in the middle attack the player across from you

The Lanes to the right attack the player to the right.

Your resources are stored off the board.

The Heart slot facing you is where your health is located.

The Circle in the middle is where the Bone Bowl goes.

You see the Mage Slot that lets you attack any player.

Some sigil clarifications:

Sigils like Bifurcated strike will attack the player in the corresponding lane, but to the left and right of the space normally attacked

Sigils like Sniper may only attack your opposing lanes, not all opposing lanes.